Weather conditions and general forecast— The warm wave of the last few days is fast breaking up under the influence of an area of high pressure and cold weather that is moving eastward over the Mississippi valley. A second cause that is contributing to the decline of the warm wave is the fact that heavy and general rain has set in over the regions of high temperature. In the east gulf states the rain is attended by thunderstorms of the usual summer type. The eastern front of the cold weath-

It was all part of the warm wave which brought the highest temperature into the eastern and middle states known since 1800. With New York city's maximum temperature 55 degrees from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the highest recorded for the day in the district was in Ohio, where it ranged from 70 to 74 de-

At the same time, with all the spring airs, there came reports of zero weather in the northwest and a blizzard in the southwest, with a cold wave coming eastnight. Its effect will be felt very much less in New York city, however, for it will spend its force in Nebraska and adjacent

All the city awakened yesterday to warm and pleasant weather. The warmth which was noticeable on Wednesday had gradually become more pronounced, until at 3 o'clock it was up in the forties, after which it climbed steadily every hour. It was fifty at noon, and then at 3 o'clock it reached its maximum holding it for two hours. The fall toward evening was only hours. The moderate.

100 Degrees at Niagara Falls.

From all over the country yesterday came similar reports. Niagara Falls, which is usually cold, reported that at 3 o'clock in the afternoon it was 100 degrees above zero in the sun. At Jamestown, N. Y., they were using open trolley cars and the passengers were enjoying the experience. Cleveland, Ohio, reported one case of heat prostration. Philadelphia said that all its parks were full of pedestrians and ve-

Blizzard From Southwest.

While all this was going on, from the southwest, from Oklahoma and the adjoining districts came reports of the blizzard. St. Louis, which might be expected to participate in warm weather, announced that sleet had stopped its street cars. Snow was falling further in the southwest, and the peach crop of the district was said to be entirely destroyed. How far the temperature will fall tonight ould not be estimated. The cold wave will oring a drop of forty degrees for the middle west, but the wave is becoming weaker and there may not be a drop of more than ten or fifteen degrees. There may be local rains and in the states to the west some sleet or hail, but there is no radical change yet in sight.

Weather experts, who acknowledge this to be a remarkable winter, ascribe it all to the deflection of the areas of depression. This year they are deflected into the St. Lawrence region instead of coming eastward, and that causing a suction draws into the eastern district the warm airs from the gulf stream and the south. So soon as the waves can travel directly eastward there will be plenty of cold weather, but when that time is to come is not definitely known. It was just one year ago that this same district of spring weather was making ready for a blizzard, which ended a week later in being the worst one since the blizzard of 1888. Pittsburg Sweltered; One Prostrated.

Pittsburg was the hottest city in the country yesterday. The thermometer registered 74.5 degrees, which was half a degree above the record. One man was prostrated, Stephen Hymes of Mingo Junction, Ohio, who dropped into Pittsburg on a visit. He is in the Pittsburg Hospital in a serious condition.

All the drug stores put on extra help, and the sizz of the soda water fountain and the rattle of ice cream spoons drowned out the call of the church bells. Early in the morning the street car company posted up the summer Sunday schedule. The company summer Sunday schedule. The company calculated well, for it carried 35,000 persons to the parks alone.

Every vehicle in the city was out, porch parties were the popular form of amuse-ment, while the "peek-a-boo" walst replaced furs. Overcoats were worn on the arms, when carried at all. At midnight the streets were crowded by residents of the congested districts, who were seeking fresher and cooler air than that of their own

Caterpillars on Streets in Vermont. At Burlington yesterday the government thermometer touched 52 degrees in the afternoon. The streets were muddy and caterpillars were found on the sidewalks. Lake Champlain is free of ice. At Rutland a maximum temperature of 65 degrees prevailed and delightful weather conditions, many people occupied their plazzas, doors and windows being left wide open. Snow has disappeared and butterflies were seen for the first time this year.

In New York Cities. At Troy the thermometer touched 54 degrees above zero and was still 50 degrees above at 10 o'clock last night. Wasps were flying about. Local icemen have not yet harvested a cake of ice and are fearful that they will not be able to do so this season. At Syracuse genuine summer weather conditions prevailed. The local weather bureau station was closed and no official tem-perature taken, but from 72 to 74 degrees were registered in many parts of the At Buffalo the temperature was the highest ever recorded in January. At Gloversville at 3 o'clock yesterday the thermometer registered 50 degrees, the warmest January day on record and 25 degrees warmer than a year ago.
At Albany the weather was like that of later April. The streets were filled with Easter-like crowds. The temperature reached 58, the highest here in January since 1890.

Too Hot in Philadelphia.

At Philadelphia yesterday a maximum temperature of 59 degrees prevailed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the humidity averaging more than 90 per cent. The city experienced the warmest twentyfour hours of the winter. The minimum temperature was 48 degrees at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Ralmy spring-like weather brought out of doors an unusually large number of per-sons. Fairmount Park and other favorite promenading places were filled with persons, who found the warm sun and unseasonable temperature a bit uncomfortable.

Lowest Temperature Saturday. The vagaries of the weather are mysteries even to the weather-wise scientists who look after the governmental weather reports. Both last winter and winter before were very cold, and at this time of the year Washington was icebound, and a hot fire was a comfort. So far this year the weather has been fine, but little snow, no ice, and no necessity for a big coal bill to keep out of condition, hence no important ex-port movement to north of Europe ports is Yesterday the lowest temperature regisexpected until spring.

January 19 of both this and last year the temperature was the

a year ago it was down to 22 degrees. On the 17th of the month this year 35 degrees was registered, while in 1905 on the same day the temperature was down to 14. January 16, 1905, was a bitterly cold day, the temperature going down to 9 degrees, while this year the temperature registered 37 degrees as the coldest of the twenty-four hours. January 15 of this year we had a minimum temperature of 35 degrees, but a year ago the thermometer went down to 16 and made thick ice on the river.

The week just past has been warmer than the corresponding week for the past four years. In 1904 the highest minimum temperature of the week was 23 on January 15 and the lowest was reached on the 19th, when the low temperature of only 3 degrees above zero was registered. In 1903 January Many lives were imperiled this morning bout 6:30 o'clock, when car 622 of the Washington Railway and Electric Company got beyond the control of the motorman while running westbound on P street, Georgetown. The car almost toppled over, and rounded the short curve there at full speed on the side wheels. Harry L. Skinner, the motorman, tried to slow down the car, it is stated, but lost control of the motor and could not apply the current. Skinner was thrown from the vestibule violently to the concrete pavement, and was badly lacerated about Temperature Will Drop From 20 to 30 the head and shoulders. He was taken to Georgetown University Hospital for treatment, where, it is stated, his condition is not serious. He is twenty-one years old.

Prompt action on the part of the conductor, E. H. Ady, it is declared, saved the lives of half a dozen passengers aboard the car. Ady was in the rear of the trailer when the car struck the curve and he was hadly cut by the director clare. The prophets at the weather bureau are nonplussed by the present wave of what Prof. Garriott termed "phenomenal weather," and what a veteran meteorologist described as "midsummer weather in midand he was badly cut by the flying glass. Father Caughy officiated, and interment was in Holyrood cemetery. Mr. Feeney had attained the age of fifty-nine years. He was a native of Ireland and was a devout Catholic. For forty-five years or more he had resided in the District. In recent years his feebleness compelled his retirement to the privacy of his home. Injured by Street Car.

Mrs. Honorah Lawler, residing at 3015 M street, Georgetown, was painfully injured Saturday evening about 8 o'clock, it is said, by being struck by an electric car of the Capital Traction Company while speeding eastbound along M street. ENSIGN WADE ACQUITTED. Verdict of Court-Martial Considering the Bennington Disaster.

The Navy Department is informed that the court-martial convened at San Francisco to investigate the cause of the explosion on the gunboat Bennington at San Diego has found Ensign C. T. Wade, the officer in charge of the engineering department of the vessel at the time of the accident, not guilty of the charges of neglect of duty and acquitted him of all responsibility for the accident.

This action of the court was taken after a reconsideration of the case at the instance of the Secretary of the Navy, who was not entirely satisfied with the original finding of the court, acquitting the officer of the charges, and who called the court's attention to certain evidence, which he held did not entirely justify that conclusion. The court, however, having adhered to its original findings and acquitted the officer, the action is binding on the department and closes the case.

An order was issued at the Navy Depart-ment today detaching Ensign Wade from the navy yard, Mare Island, and directing him to proceed home and await orders.

An unusually large docket appeared in the police court this morning when the court was opened at 9 o'clock by Justice Harry B. Caton. It consisted mostly of minor cases. Harvey Ticer was charged with assaulting Robert Murphy with a knife. The affair took place Friday night in the northern part of the city. Murphy, who was severely cut about the face and neck, refused to prosecute Ticer, but a fine of $20 was imposed upon the latter.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Warder, whose death occurred Wednesday, took place from her late residence, 427 South Fairfax street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

FIRE ESCAPE BILL.

to Passage. The District of Columbia subcommittee which was recently authorized to report with amendments the local fire escape bill has completed its work and the measure will be pressed to passage. The bill was to have been taken up today with other District business, but the urgent deficiency bill interfering, it will be considered next Monday instead. The bill as reported amends the law in several important particulars. The committee endeavored to correct all known inadequacies of the present law, and it is believed it has succeeded. The present law gives the Commissioners jurisdiction over certain buildings fifty or nore feet in height. This bill extends their jurisdiction to buildings of three or more stories over thirty feet in height. The committee was convinced that by far the most dangerous fire traps in this city are those buildings more than thirty and less than fifty feet in height, occupied and used as flats or tenements, which entirely escape inspection and regulation under the present law.

The new bill makes it imperative for owners, tenants and occupants of a building

in which ten or more persons are employed above the second story, where two ways three feet wide and at least thirty feet apart are not provided, to provide fire escapes under the supervision of the prope authorities, and where these persons are employed at night to provide proper lights for the halls and stairways.

The bill further relieves the Commissioners of the responsibility of determining what buildings are fireproof; makes it unlawful to obstruct fire escapes; makes it compul-sory that elevators be provided with fireproof doors, and, in the case of non-resident owners, authorizes the Commissioners to erect fire escapes and charge the amoun expended against the property. Three meth ods are provided for compelling obedience to the requirements of the bill: (1) a criminal prosecution, (2) a tax charge against the property for the expenses incident to erect-

As a result of the fight in Snow's court northwest on Saturday night, in which Policeman Dulin of the third precinct was seriously injured, Sergeant Judge appeared in the Police Court this morning and filed papers with Clerk Potts against all the men involved and arrested. Eldridge White and James Thomas, both colored, were charged with assaulting the officer by hitting him with a brick; Charles Morrow James Beli, Robert Mahoney, William Matney, Fred Harris and John Matney were all charged with assault and battery on Policeman Dulin. Robert Mahoney also has a charge of assaulting Policeman Allen of the third precinct against him. Owing to the condition of the officer and his inability to be in court today, the cases were all continued indefinitely.

Policeman Dulin, who was injured, was sent to the Emergency Hospital, where ne remained for the night. Yesterday he was moved in a cab to his home, where he is said today to be improving.

TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE AT FU-NERAL OF CAPT. RAMSEY.

Most impressive were the funeral services over the remains of the late Capt. Frank De Witt Ramsey of the general staff of the army, at the Church of Our Father, 13th and L streets northwest, yesterday afternoon. Rev. John Van Schaick, a relative of the deceased, officiated, and the arrangements were in charge of Capt. Grote Hutch-

The solemnity was increased by a funeral march, softly played o nthe great organ. as the cortege entered, preceded by six stalwart sergeants of engineers bearing on as the cortege entered, preceded by six stalwart sergeants of engineers bearing on their shoulders the flag-draped casket.

Maj. Gen. John C. Bates, chief of staff, with the other officers of the general staff of the army, followed the body bearers and the honorary pallbearers, who were Col. Henry P. McCain, military secretary; Maj. Joseph E. Kuha, Corps of Engineers; Capt. Robert E. Michie, Capt. James H. McRae and Capt. Charles H. Muir of the general staff and Capt, I. C. Welborn of the 9th United States Infantry, Of these Col. McCain, Maj. Kuhn, Capt. Michie and Capt. Muir were classmates of Capt. Ramsey at West Point. On the way from the church to the sixth street station the cortege was preceded by the Engineer Band and a company of engineers from Washington barracks, while following the carriages containing the honorary pallbearers and the family, marched a delegation of the 9th United States Infantry Veteran Association of which Capt.

But there is great faith in the breasts of all. The Universalist Church believes in the Fatherhood of God, the universal brotherhood of man and ultimately the universal victory for all."

The minister described God as "marking the universal victory for all."

The minister described God as "working through the centuries with His thunderbolts of punishment and His great volume of love." He added:
"I cannot think of Frank Ramsey today his comrades as an "emergency man," be-cause he never said a thing could not be done, but that it can be done, "and I will do it." He spoke of a fatherless boy in the north that Capt. Ramsay was rearing and had placed in school at Albany as illustrating the kindness of his heart. In conclusion the pastor spoke of Capt. Ramsey's geniality, sympathy, charity and heroism, and declared that these qualities had not been blotted out by death, but still lived.

KAISER'S SHOOTING LICENSE.

Subcommittee of House Will Press It Paid Fifteen Shillings for Permit to Special Cablegram to The Star.

HAMBURG, January 22 .- When the German papers get "hard up for news" they are about as foolish as newspapers published in other portions of the world. For instance, there has been a heated discussion in the German papers recently as to whether the kaiser is compelled to carry a shooting license. The point was ultimately settled by the newspaper Wild und Hund, which was enterprising enough to secure the actual text of the document that the other papers were discussing. It read as "Valid for one year. Twelve months cember 1, 1903, till November, 1904.
